- Stato e individuo. Processi decisionali pubblici, trasparenza e interessi privati.

Description:

Come sono regolati i rapporti tra decisore pubblico e interessi privati in Italia? Ci sono meccanismi atti ad assicurare la trasparenza del processo decisionale, amministrativo e politico, specialmente con riferimento all'azione dei gruppi di pressione, le c.d. lobbies? Come considerare il soggetto privato che esercita funzioni pubbliche, anche alla luce del principio di sussidiarietà orizzontale?

Come valutare le c.d. azioni collettive da parte dei gruppi di pressione con cui si cerca di influenza il decisore pubblico? Quali le cause e le possibili cure alle patologie del rapporto tra pubblico e privato, come la corruzione? E come tale rapporto è regolato all'estero? E' possibile individuare delle best practices per il contesto italiano? Il presente studio vuole rispondere alle suddette domande, cercando, anche grazie ad una ricostruzione storica, di comprendere i motivi del "ritardo" italiano in materia di trasparenza nei rapporti tra lo Stato (genericamente inteso), l'individuo e le sue manifestazioni associative.

In un contesto, come quello italiano, in cui ogni giorno si parla di "lobbies" accusandole di frenare lo sviluppo del paese, l'analisi intende indagare le modalità con cui i decisori pubblici possono rapportarsi ai portatori di interessi privati senza con ciò inficiare il processo decisionale ma, all'opposto, traendone vantaggio per la collettività. L'esperienza comparata, da questo punto di vista, dimostra che i medesimi problemi italiani sono stati affrontati e, in parte, risolti nelle democrazie più avanzate come Stati Uniti d'America e Canada, ad esempio, mentre permangono, con soluzioni normative dubbie, in altri ordinamenti (è il caso del Brasile e dell'Argentina, ad esempio, ma anche per certi versi dell'ordinamento dell'Unione Europea).

▪ LA ALIANZA DE CIVILIZACIONES Y LOS DERECHOS DE LA DIVERSIDAD CULTURAL

Description: La integración de los objetivos de la Alianza de Civilizaciones en las políticas, exterior e interna, del Estado necesita de manera ineludible una lectura e interpretación en clave jurídica. El proyecto se centrará en el análisis los estándares y niveles de reconocimiento y tutela jurídica de los derechos culturales, reconocibles entre los objetivos fundamentales de la Alianza de Civilizaciones, y concretamente dentro de los ámbitos de actuación priorizados por el Plan Nacional aprobado por el Gobierno de España. Se pretende realizar un examen en profundidad de la influencia y repercusiones que están teniendo, y puede tener en el futuro, los objetivos de la Alianza de Civilizaciones, sobre las legislaciones y políticas nacionales, en el ámbito de los derechos humanos y constitucionales, y especial en el tratamiento ético-jurídico de la diversidad cultural, utilizando para este propósito la experiencia y metodología de las diversas disciplinas jurídicas de los miembros del grupo de investigación (derecho constitucional, filosofía del derecho, derecho internacional, ciencia y sociología políticas, derecho comparado). El objetivo final y primordial del proyecto de investigación gira en torno a la elaboración de un catálogo de posibles instrumentos - jurídicos y de implementación político-administrativa- para la consecución y mejora de los fines propuestos por la AC.
